

KPFK is pleased to announce an employment opportunity for an Assistant Producer on our 7–8 A.M. morning drive-time show.

Candidates are expected to be proficient in research and newswriting. They also should be extremely knowledgeable about current political affairs and intimately familiar with the landscape of local, national and international progressive information outlets. They must be detail-oriented, be proficient in audio editing, have good verbal and written communication skills, be comfortable with the use of social media, be able to balance multiple deadlines, be ready to be at work during very early morning hours, be comfortable supervising volunteers, and be able work in a fast-paced environment. The assistant producer will be expected to help grow and expand the show, as well as coordinate news and fundraising programming with our affiliate stations. Prior training in broadcasting and journalism is required. We encourage women and people of color to apply.

NOTE: This is a union position with health benefits.
Deadline: May 16, 2018

Please send a cover letter, a 1-page resume and 2 references to jobs@kpfk.org with the subject: "Producer Job Application." If you do not receive an email confirmation, that means we did not receive your application. We will only accept electronic applications.